The Great Weave of Life

We are in the midst of spring. The world is alive with a myriad of colors. With each rainfall, plants grow and the colors become ever richer. Each time I walk, nature invites me to dance with her. As I dance, I imagine the spring dances of long ago. Ancient Celtic people danced around the Maypole during the mid-Spring celebration. As they danced, they wove brightly colored ribbons around the pole. Members of community worked together to create this joyous representation of spring. Community celebrated spring in this tangible dance of creation. Community members flowed in sync with one another and nature creating a colorful weave of love. Community celebrated the joy of creation and connection.

My friend Donna and I talked last week. She shared with me her vision of being a constant channel for love. She intentionally envisions love flowing through her and then from her into the world. I envision the Maypole and its bright weave of colors being a physical manifestation of that sharing. Love is present in the physical and spiritual twining of the ribbons. Joyfully we dance with others in our lives, and we share the brightly colored ribbons of our beings as they share theirs. The Divine is present in each moment of this dance as love flows through us. Divine love becomes an integral part of us, and we imbue this sacred offering with our essences. The love that flows from us is a blend of divine love and our love. By sharing with others, we create a brightly colored weave of joyful community. We create a Maypole of Spirit in our lives. As Daniel told me last fall, "it is love, pure and simple, that connects us to one another." This love is woven throughout our beings and brings us to a place of grace. In this place we share not only God's grace but also ourselves.

Dance through the month of May as an intentional conduit of Divine Love. Allow the love to ignite your Divine Spark before flowing into the world. Your ribbon will twine with the ribbons of others, and community thrives through this loving connection. Create a weave of love that spirals first to those you know and outward to those you do not know. Love, pure and simple, connects all in the Great Weave of life to you and you to them.

Namaste, Vanessa

God's Whispers

Awareness

A peculiar thing has been happening of late. I have had a number of conversations with friends, students, and clients. All focus on the same topic. Unbidden flashes of intuition have been occurring to all of us. At times the insight has been disconcerting. The light of intuition is most certainly shining in our lives, and the wattage of the bulb has intensified.

This spring something wonderful happened — a discernible energy shift occurred. When I become quiet and focus on my breathing, I feel the shimmer of divine grace, a manifestation of the shift, moving through me. At other times, my palms heat up, and swoosh! the healing grace spirals through and out of me. Why the healing grace is flowing through me and where it is going are less important than the awareness of the flow. I am a receptive vessel for this divine grace and celebrate the grace flowing through me.

In the moment when the whisper of God's breath gently caresses my divine spark, I awaken to the certainty that I am a part of something greater. I am a channel for God's grace. What a phenomenal opportunity and honor! When my palms heat up, I say a prayer for those people and situations that need healing. As my body resonates to a higher vibration, I give thanks. I move deeper into my own healing journey and grow in my relationship to the Divine. As I heal and move into greater balance, my energy vibration responds by rising. As my energy vibration rises, I recognize and respond to my intuition.

We are alive in a most profound and exciting time. We are offered opportunities to release what no longer serves us and embrace another way of being. This is accomplished through awareness and clarity. Awareness draws us to a place of balance, and clarity provides the map to follow to balance and harmony.

We can journey through awareness by ourselves or with others. Sometimes it helps to decipher the intuitive whispers with another. If you need additional clarity, schedule an intuitive reading. Gain the clarity and the confidence to move forward. I offer myself as a fellow sojourner, a pathfinder. Call today to schedule your reading...502.599.7222.
